SPECIAL TOPICS IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS: INTERNATIONAL SECURITY

Summer 2015

Instructor: Andrew Bertoli	GSI: Andrew Reddie
Email: abertoli@berkeley.edu	Email: areddie@berkeley.edu

Course Page: <http://andrewbertoli.com/#!/international-security/cjbx>

Office Hours: Thursday 2-4 pm in 783 Barrows

Content: This course will investigate some of the most important sources of conflict in the modern international system, including interstate rivalry, rogue states, and terrorism. We will also look at a number of possible responses to these challenges. Particular focus will be given to U.S. foreign policy and how it can be used to promote global stability.

Requirements: Students should attend all lectures and sections, as well as complete the assigned readings before every class. There will also be a midterm and a final, which will consist of essays and questions about the readings.

Access to Readings: All readings are available for free if you are on the UC Berkeley network. If you are off-campus, follow the directions on this site to connect to the network: <http://www.lib.berkeley.edu/using-the-libraries/proxy-server>.

Absences: There is no penalty for missing lecture. Section attendance is required, but absences for religious or extracurricular activities may be excused if they meet the guidelines from the Academic Senate and the Registrars Office. Please inform me immediately if you cannot attend class on either of the exam days.

Accommodations: Please let me know if you need any accommodations that have been approved by DSP.

Grading Policy: Participation (20%), Midterm (30%), Final (50%).

Important Dates:

Midterm Exam July 23, 2015
Final Exam August 13, 2015

Other Policies: Computers, cell phones, and other electronic devices are not permitted during class.
